

Just Ridiculous

We often care a lot about how other people see us. We care if people think we are cool, and honestly, we don't want them to see us as awkward or ridiculous. BUT sometimes God wants us to embrace the ridiculous things for his purposes. Read each of the scenarios below and discuss how you think God would want you to respond in a loving, and perhaps, ridiculous way when required.

Scenario #1

A friend at school has spilled something all over their pants and they are feeling really insecure about it. They don't have a change of clothes. What do you do?

Scenario #2

Your friend sneeze-farted during a prayer on Sunday morning and everyone heard. They are burning red with embarrassment. What do you do?

Scenario #3

A kid that a lot people make fun of dropped a huge stack of papers outside at school. It's windy and the papers are going everywhere. A group of your friends is standing there and laughing. What do you do?

Scenario #4

A teacher at school says that anyone believes in God must be crazy. You know there are other Christians in the class, but they don't say anything. What do you do?
